FOR RACE AND NATION

Police ordered to leave mugging victims defenceless in 'racially sensitive' areas

We have been warned!

It is now police policy in certain areas not to take any action on reported muggings if it involves entering places that are 'racially sensitive'.

This was made clear in a case that occurred in South London last month. Roberto Forzoni and his fiancee Anne-Marie Wood entered (perhaps unwisely) a night club in Brixton where most of the customers were black. The couple, who came from nearby Herne Hill, said they were terrorised from the first moment they set foot in the place, called The Fridge, in Brixton Hill. One Black immediately came up and demanded money. When Forzoni told him to 'get lost' a crowd of Blacks straightaway set on the couple and stripped them of everything they had between them, including £3,000 worth of jewellery.

The two were chased around the club and finally escaped under the bar. No-one tried to help them.

They went to report the incident to the police. They found the police just didn't want to know.

They would take no action to apprehend the culprits, they told Mr. Forzoni and Miss Wood, because that would involve entering the club, which was a spot deemed as 'racially sensitive'.

The police officers concerned here should not be condemned too harshly for it is quite obvious that they were merely acting under orders from 'high up' — ultimately almost certainly from the Home Office, where basic police policy is decided.

So this is the point that we have reached in Great Britain in 1986. Despite the constant claims by politicians that there are no 'no-go areas' for the police, it is quite clear that there are such areas, and black clubs in Brixton are an example. Blacks in Britain today are above the law. We have said it in this paper before and some have disbelieved us. Well, just ask Mr. Forzoni and his fiancee — they know!

As we said at the beginning, we have been warned!

THE GREAT SPOOF

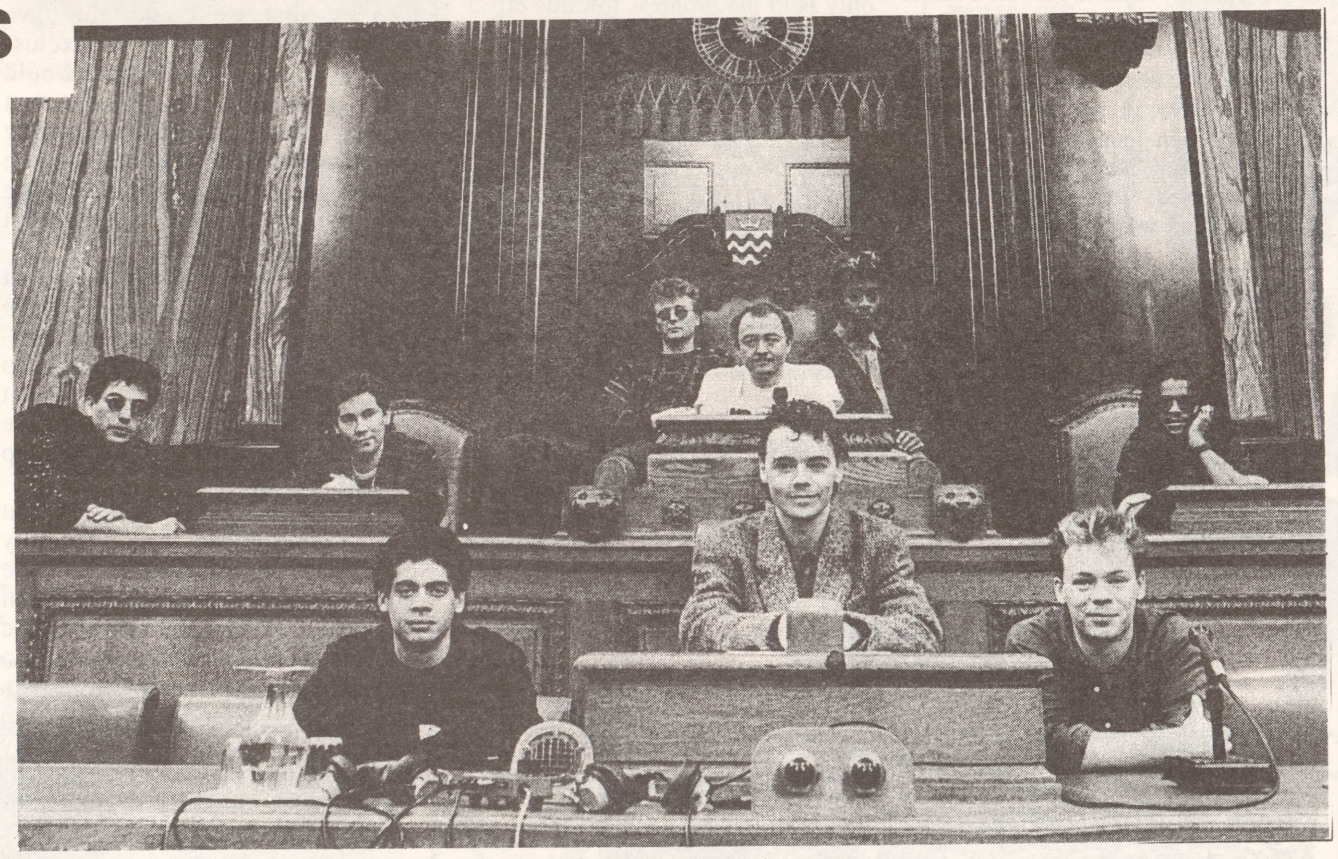
Abolition of metropolitan areas will change nothing; red bosses will surface again in new offices

AT THE END of last month the Government attempted a gigantic spoof against the British public. In the abolition of the mainly far-left-wing-dominated metropolitan local government areas and their ruling councils, it hoped that it would be seen as striking a blow against left-wing extremism.

In fact the abolition was just a meaningless gesture. Left-wing extremists will continue to be rife in local government; they will merely come to power by other means and occupy offices of a different name.

The great majority of the functions that have in recent years been performed by the large metropolitan councils will simply be taken over by smaller city and borough councils. Red lunatics like Ken Livingstone in London and Derek Hatton and Tony Mulhearn in Liverpool will just as easily be able to grab high offices and set up miniature Soviet-style republics working through these smaller bodies.

Many are already doing so. Several of the London borough councils are run by far left-wing mafias, like Islington, Haringey, Hackney, Brent and Lambeth. These councils have produced their Ted Knights and Bernie Grants. Similar councils exist in Edinburgh and Leicester.



RED KEN AND HIS GANG

No, this is not a scene from a TV political satire. It is actually a sitting of the Greater London Council, with city boss Ken Livingstone presiding. The motley of erks around him are actually the people who up till recently were running the nation's capital. What kind of political system can it be that put them there? Now the Council has gone but the system remains. The same rabble will simply sit on other local government bodies.

THE SYSTEM: NO CHANGE

Certain of the far left subversives have been relieved of their offices, but there is nothing to stop them getting elected to other offices. Ken Livingstone himself of course has his sights set on higher things: he is now running for Parliament.

Britain's structure of local government may well be in need of change, but that structure is not the main thing rotting and destroying this country.

ARMY OF RED MAGGOTS

A much more important thing is the vast army of red maggots being churned out by our schools and other educational establishments, who are eating their way into every sphere and institution of British life. It is that army that must be defeated and destroyed, but in fact the Tories are doing absolutely nothing to defeat or destroy it.

In fact modern Toryism is just making people into left-wingers. By the appalling policies that have created mass unemployment and national industrial ruin, it is driving people in droves into the arms of the left.

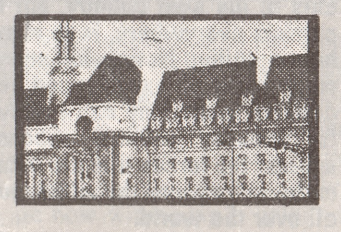
Toryism, in its paralysis and powerlessness before the red tide, desperately needed some kind of gesture to kid the public that it is doing something whilst in fact it is doing nothing.

The abolition of the GLC and other metropolitan councils was that gesture. They go but the red menace remains.

THE REAL DISEASE

We Nationalists recognise left-wingers and left-wing ideology to be the real disease threatening Britain, and that disease — not local government systems — is the thing we are resolved to fight and defeat.

COUNTY HALL



HOW THEY SPENT THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

ACCORDING TO the apologists for that system of legalised political racketeering known as 'democracy', the men and women who get voted into office at elections are the representatives of 'the people' who elected them and as such carry out 'the people's' will. That at any rate is the theory.

In practice how does it actually work out? For an answer we may examine what was found at London's County Hall after the recently abolished GLC had closed down and its bosses had departed from their offices.

In a storeroom located in the basement of the building were 2,000 Mao-style suits that had been ordered for council workers, both male and female, as part of a drive to eliminate 'sexism' by having both sexes dress alike.

Along with these were 1,800 unisex sandals made in Poland (where else?).

Also found was a stock of toilet seats due to be installed in the men's loos in place of the usual standing facilities for short visits — all in the cause of eliminating sex differences.

No doubt the next planned stage of this operation was to have one toilet for all!

According to freshly printed posters, the council's research department offered to organise a project to fit any exotic destination which staff or councillors could dream up.

NATIONALIST SUCCESS IN FRANCE

THE RECENT SUCCESS of the French Front National in France's parliamentary elections is to welcomed by white patriots everywhere. In recent years the FN, under the leadership of M. Jean-Marie Le Pen, has burst onto the scene on French national politics as a serious force.

Now in elections to France's National Assembly M. Le Pen's party has just gained 35 seats, winning 9.72 per-cent of the poll. Since the majority achieved by the established right-wing parties is a slender one, the FN may in the future have a power-broking role in the nation's parliament.

This dramatic upsurge of Nationalism has come about largely in response to the non-white racial threat confronting France, which is very similar to that facing Britain.

M. Le Pen, a tough former paratrooper and veteran of France's war in Algeria, has a record as an active patriot and Nationalist going back to the 1950s. He has fought a long, hard struggle to get to where he now is.

Le Pen's great service, not only to his own country, but to patriots everywhere, is to show how a unified Nationalist movement under an experienced and capable leadership can achieve far-reaching political success against the forces that are today mobilised against the white race all over the world.

LE PEN
His success has set a fine example to us in Britain

The success of the FN has proved that good white men are not powerless in the face of an alien invasion and the traitors behind it.

In the 1970s Britain led the way in this regard, with her own large and successful National Front, then much more powerful than the French one. Britain's National Front later tragically declined, largely through being afflicted with the same 'democratic' and 'anti-leadership' attitudes lying at the root of Britain's sickness.

If Britain is to witness the successful emergence of a Nationalist movement as has happened in France, what is required is that Nationalist elements in this country unite together on the basis of the principle of strong leadership which the nation as a whole needs. We in the British National Party have founded our organisation on that principle, placing power of decision wholly in the hands of proven men, many of whom were the very ones whose qualities made for the success of Nationalism in Britain in the 1970s. Only on this basis can the example of our friends in France be emulated.

The EEC: a house built on lies

THE RECENT SALE of food stocks at rock-bottom prices to the Soviet Union from the mountains of surplus agricultural produce of the European Common Market once again provides a glimpse of how the EEC operates against the interests and well being of the nations of Europe, notably Britain, that have been dragooned into it.

Consumers within the EEC have to pay through the nose, in terms both of high food prices and heavy taxation, to support surplus food production under the Common Agricultural Policy. This has hit Britain particularly hard. Under he previous relationship with her traditional partners of the old White Commonwealth — New Zealand, Australia and Canada — Britain enjoyed plentiful cheap food, according those kindred nations preferential access to Britain for their produce and thereby providing their farmers with an assured market, to the mutual advantage of all countries concerned. Now Britain is part of an international set-up whose machinery is being set in motion, at the expense of her taxpayers and consumers, to support her enemies of the Soviet Bloc with subsidised foodstuffs at a fraction of the price our own people have to pay!

GIGANTIC FRAUD

In fact the EEC is a gigantic fraud, which was foisted upon Britain under false pretences from the very beginning. This latest matter is only the tip of the iceberg. The European Common Market was originally sold to the British people on a number of claims now exposed as lies. We were told:-

The Truth: The industrial centre of gravity of the EEC, towards which most investment is drawn, is located in the Ruhr-Benelux region. Under Common Market arrangements Britain's economy tends to become a minor offshore one in relation to that of the Continent. In terms of trade, British industry has ended up losing much more business in the British market than has been gained in Continental markets. When North Sea oil exports are subtracted, Britain runs a huge overall deficit with the EEC.

TIME OF EUROPEAN EUPHORIA
Premier Heath signs Treaty of Accession in 1973

Thus, if Britain withdrew from the Common Market, in the process taking steps to protect her home market from invasion by EEC manufactured goods, then, even in the unlikely event of her own exports being totally excluded from EEC markets, British manufacturers would still register a massive gain.

Lie No. 2: The loss of sovereignty and independence that Britain could incur from EEC membership could be compensated by a greater sense of unity and understanding among European peoples, overcoming the 'nationalism' which has lain at the root of European wars.

The Truth: The EEC has stirred up nothing but disunity among the nations of Europe, as they endlessly wrangle over wine lakes, butter mountains and contributions to the common budget. The nations of Europe are as far apart under Common Market arrangements as they have ever been, these arrangements naturally setting them at each other's throats as they seek petty advantages at one another's expense.

It should by now be obvious that that genuine harmony among the nations of Europe can only grow out of their common determination to live in proud independence of one another, free of such entanglements as the EEC. Britain's departure from the EEC would only help the progress towards effective collaboration among Europe's nation states on the basis of the things they genuinely have in common.

And as for 'nationalism' causing European wars, this is at variance with the facts. The most destructive wars that have divided European peoples have been fought either as a result of religious divisions (for example, the Thirty Years War) or from the tendency of some European nations to meddle in the affairs of others in the name of international 'ideals'.

Lie No. 3: The EEC could enable Europe to become a great ''third force'' in world affairs — independent of both the United States and Soviet Russia and holding the balance between them.

The Truth: The EEC is not independent at all. Its member nations are still satellites of America, apparently requiring large American forces on European soil in order to defend Europe. The EEC economies are still largely subservient to the American economy, particularly in the case of Britain. The EEC still looks to the American President as political 'boss' of the Western World.

Equally, the other half of Europe still remains in a position of satellite status in relation to the Soviet Union.

So just where is this European 'independence' and in what way does Europe hold the 'balance' between the two super-powers?

GET BRITAIN OUT!

We Nationalists are pledged to end this farcical fraud by taking Britain out of the EEC. In seeking an enlarged market for our industry we will strive to rebuild our trading links with the countries of the White Commonwealth and South Africa, which are the source of supply of many of our most vital raw materials. Britain, in granting preferential terms of entry to her market for these countries' mineral exports and for their food products, such as Canadian wheat, Australian and New Zealand dairy products and South African oranges, could place herself in a position of very strong negotiating power to win reciprocal preferences for her manufactured exports. In this way her industrial strength could be rebuilt to yet undreamt of proportions. From that position she could then conduct her relations with the nations of Europe on terms of strength, and enter into useful collaboration with those nations in areas of genuine mutual interest. This is the true way to European harmony — the way of Nationalism.

Given to India — the money that could have saved Westland

WHEN THE GOVERNMENT was engaged earlier this year delivering up Westland, Britain's only helicopter manufacturer, to American control, the argument was put forward that we could not have retained the company as an exclusively British concern as that would have involved the Government bailing Westland out by pumping taxpayers' money into it. We cannot go on doing this sort of thing with public money, Government spokesmen argued.

What in fact was the sum that would have been needed from public founds to buy the Government a share in Westland and keep it under British control? At first it was £72 million, although later the value of the shares for sale went up to £80 million.

And what do we now hear? That the Government has recently concluded an agreement to give away free to the Indian Government Westland W30 helicopters to the value of £65 mmillion — only a fraction less than would have been needed to keep the Westland company solvent — and wholly British!

YOUR LETTERS

Sir, — The leaders of the main political parties never seem to learn the lessons of history, one of which is that to make concessions to those who are bent on destroying you is the first step to your own demise!

Dangerous examples today are when British policemen are 'encouraged' to parley with murderous rioters in our cities, when pressure is being put on South African President Botha to make hasty 'reforms' and when the present Tory Government here tries to 'buy off' Irish Republicans with gestures like the Anglo-Irish Agreement.

The following verse may not be poetry, but it is true:-

No man prevails when freedom fails.
The best men rot in stinking jails,
And those who cried 'Appease! Appease!'
Are hanged by those they tried to please.

JOHN LESTER
Poole, Dorset

Sir, — The spirit of harmony shown to the world by the two 'super powers' at Geneva would give the impression that socialism and capitalism are complementary to each other.

Successive British governments, in line with American policy, have long co-operated and traded with the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Is there really any conflict between East and West at all?

R.F. BROWN
Leicester

Sir, — It makes me boil with fury when I read about the charges being made against our party leader and other party members for daring to distribute literature which did not drool over Blacks or treat them as God's gift to Britain. It also incenses me to hear that policemen are instructed by their senior officers to turn a blind eye when they see Blacks breaking the law.

I always thought that in this country we were all equal before the law — the odious female in No. 10 is always saying we are — but evidently, as in Animal Farm, some are more equal than others.

H.S. HALL
Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk

Sir, — You were dead right in what you said last month about the attempted sell out of British Leyland to the Americans.

What has not been explained is why the Government made a secret approach to General Motors many months ago and was engaged in secret talks with GM over a long period before any British companies who might have been prepared to buy Leyland knew what was happening. Then when the gaff was blown and some British firms did express an interest in buying Leyland Mrs. Thatcher gave them a ridiculously short time limit for getting their bids together. It is clear that from the start the Government was determined, if possible, to assist another American take-over. Why?

Fortunately, a back-bench revolt in the House of Commons stopped this dirty little scheme for the time being, but for how long?

Suggestions ranged from the obvious 'origins of Caribbean culture' in Barbados to the intriguing field work waiting to be done in Greece: 'Can Mediterranean stone-wash techniques be introduced to give ethnic familiarity to Stoke Newington laundrettes?'

Another barmy GLC project was aimed at removing such words as 'high' from street names so that streets previously called 'High Street' would instead be called 'Main Street'. The reason? Words like 'high' were considered offensive to people of short stature!

The GLC also planned to use its licensing powers over theatres to end sexual stereotyping in entertainment. For instance, production of Peter Pan would be required to portray the lost boys as a gay commune.

Londoners who read of these revelations might be forgiven for thinking that the people who have been governing their city are a crowd of stark-raving loonies.

But what they should be asking themselves — and not only Londoners but citizens of other cities and counties where similar nut cases have been, and still are, in control — is how these freaks managed to get into power, as they have.

Is there not something seriously wrong with a political system that enables such lunatics to get to such positions in public life?

Get to such positions — and then recklessly lavish other people's money — the money of the people who elected them — on such crazy schemes.

The purpose of local government is supposed to be to provide necessary local public services.

But just what connection these projects have with necessary public services is beyond the comprehension of any rationally thinking person.

It is all very well for Conservatives, Alliance supporters and Labour 'moderates' to condemn such idiotic goings on but those same people still support the political system that made those things possible.

A political system which, if it resulted in the election of the Brooke Bond chimpanzees, to high office in local government, could hardly be more absurd.

What all this shows is that the political system known as 'democracy' carries no assurance whatsoever that it will result in the bringing of people to office who represent the will and the interests of the majority — the supposed basis of the 'democratic' idea.

In fact all the system does is bring to power cranks and madmen who act in complete contempt of 'the people'.

So isn't it about time we had a big rethink about the whole political system we live under — and asked ourselves: is there a better system that might serve the people more in accordance with their interests, the needs and their wishes?

BLACK CRIME EXPLODES IN RESPONSE TO GOVERNMENT APPEASEMENT

IN THE AFTERMATH of the 1985 black riots that tore Britain's inner cities apart for the second time in 4 years the Tory Government made a few noises about 'law and order' in order to placate its rank-and-file supporters, but now, several months later, it is clear that nothing whatever is being done to combat that very substantial part of the collapse of law and order that is due to crime by Blacks.

On the contrary, Government policy for keeping black rioters and potential rioters quiet has been one of the most craven appeasement. Senior police officers have been given instructions to turn a blind eye to black crime whenever there is a danger that by arresting the criminals they might spark off fresh riots. This has been regarded by the criminals as a green light, and crime has, if anything, increased since the 1985 riots and all the pious words that followed them.

Back in September, just after the Handsworth and Brixton riots, an explosion of violent crime on London's bus and underground transport system was reported. London Transport's figures show that the particular black spots for assaults on busmen are areas known to be dominated by 'ethnic minorities'. Brixton was the worst area, but also named were Peckham, New Cross, Lewisham, Acton, Southall, Croydon and the Kilburn/Willesden/Harlesden triangle.

A busman's union report states that: ''Mugging and hooliganism are increasing, mainly through groups of youths boarding buses with no intention of paying their fares — or otherwise just looking for trouble.'' Women staff suffer a similar number of attacks to men, the report states, and culprits are seldom brought to justice.

TERROR ON THE TUBE

A similar appalling picture has emerged on the tube. According to Superintendent Tony Stoppani, divisional chief of transport police at St. James, the level of violent robbery has rocketed over the past 10 years. When police attempt to make arrests, criminals now have a habit of attacking them with knives, coshes, cut-throat razors, personal gas sprays and other weapons, including high-powered catapaults with ball-bearings.

This increase in crime, says Supt. Stoppani, ''is not out of line with what's happened in other areas of the metropolis. We mirror what happens above ground.'' He further admitted: ''Over 90 per-cent of knife-point robberies are committed by young West Indians.''

No recent case has so well illustrated the problem as the reign of terror of the 30-strong black gang styling itself the 'Killerman Gold Posse', 8 members of which were recently tried at the Old Bailey. The main victims of the gang were young women with jewellery, who were robbed on tube trains while other passengers were subjected to gang terror. One 18-year-old girl had knives placed between her fingers to force her to hand over her rings.

One area of London, in the Clapham-Vauxhall district, has been dubbed 'Muggers' Mile'. In one week of February no less than 17 savage muggings were reported. The criminals were overwhelmingly young Blacks armed with knives and coshes. Virtually all the victims were Whites, including old-age pensioners, women and one father of four who was beaten to death for £2.

RAPE INCREASES

Another category of crime that has undergone a dramatic increase in the capital is rape. During early March much newspaper space was taken up with the savage West London vicarage rape, apparently committed by a gang of Whites. Rightly, this crime caused shock and outrage. Much less prominent media coverage has been given to a number of other rapes committed in the same period by Blacks.

One Black in Brixton dragged a young woman into a churchyard, holding a knife to her spine, and then raped her. In Maida Vale another girl was held up at gunpoint while waiting for a bus, forced into a secluded area beneath a nearby tower block and then savagely sexually assaulted. He assailant was described as black.

One of the very worst manifestations of the increase of this hideous crime came in a case heard at the Old Bailey in November, when a gang of six West Indian youths were convicted of raping two schoolgirls in Brixton. The girls were walking home from a concert when the gang pounced on them, dragged them down an alley threatening them with knives, forced them into separate pitch-black, cage-like garages, stripped them and repeatedly raped them.

And yet the actual sentences they got when they came to court were pathetically soft. The four older youths, 15 and 16 when the crime occurred, were given 7 years youth custody while the two younger ones, 13 and 14, were given 3 years detention — this despite the fact that four of the six had previous 'form'.

The anger at these derisory punishments was such that even some Labour MPs joined in it.

DRIVE TO GET MORE BLACKS INTO POLICE

Government response to this mounting wave of crime and violence may be gauged from its new drive to recruit Blacks and Asians into the police force. In Tottenham this policy is being co-ordinated between the same senior police officers who so weakly and incompetently handled the Broadwater Farm riot and the build-up that preceded it.

This same attitude of appeasement is further revealed in the Government's continuing schemes to milk productive British taxpayers of yet more hundreds of millions to fund the so-called ''urban programme''. Under this programme inner city Asians and Blacks are to continue getting handouts to finance ''training and self-employment opportunities.'' To add insult to injury, it is suggested that more resources should be allocated to combatting white 'racial discrimination' in employment and training. The whole programme rests on the assumption that whenever Blacks riot this must somehow be the fault of the Whites. Thus is justified the process of forcing the British people to finance their own gradual ruin.

In effect the Tory line on race and crime is no different to that of the subversive, red-dominated Labour local councils. The only difference is that the Labour Party is a shade more open in its anti-white attitude.

The overwhelming message that is going out from this Government and being well understood by the criminal element is that ''crime pays.'' As long as this continues, and the policy of weakness on the part of Government, senior police and courts remains unchanged, the war against society that we are now witnessing is going to get steadily worse.

We will not be silenced

AS THIS REPORT is being compiled, our Editor John Morse and BNP party leader John Tyndall, who vets and authorises the content of our paper, are facing charges of stirring up 'race hate' as a result of previous reports and articles appearing in this paper. These charges are not going to intimidate Mr. Morse and Mr. Tyndall into adopting a posture of silence on the matters dealt with here. All crime of the kind described, whether committed by Blacks or Whites, is to be regarded with equal revulsion and we have not desisted from condemning the worst white criminals as well as the worst black ones. Nevertheless, when particular categories of crime show a disproportionate black or other ethnic involvement we believe it right that this should be known and discussed. This is without prejudice to the many Blacks and other members of ethnic minority groups who we recognise do not riot, mug, rape or otherwise break the law.

STREETS OF FEAR

Police drive for Asian recruits

A POLICE drive to recruit young blacks and Asians for the Tottenham area is to be launched next month.

For the first time, local police will team up with Haringey's community relations officers to push the recruitment campaign.

Cautious approval to the idea was given today by Mrs Dolly Kiffin, founder of the Broadwater Farm Youth Association which covers the 1000-home estate where Britain's worst riots took place last October and during which PC Keith Blakelock was killed.

by Dick Murray

Mrs Kiffin said that increasing the numbers of black and Asian officers was "maybe a good idea from the top policemen".

She then added a note of caution. "This could be a genuine idea—but a lot of black youth say the police are using black policemen to harass them."

She urged senior police officers to communicate more with the Tottenham community. "There is still a lot of misunderstanding about the black officers used at the moment," she said.

Tottenham police Suptd Colin Couch said today: "We have a lot to learn about different communities and they have a lot to learn from us."

Haringey's community relations officer Jeff Crawford said: "The eight day recruitment drive will be launched on April 14 at our office.

"It is the first time the Metropolitan Police have strayed away from their usual recruitment pattern and we have been working closely with Scotland Yard."

£1,600 in fines for upsetting the Jews

Report from Plymouth

FOUR MEMBERS of the British National Party were given £400 each in fines at Plymouth Crown Court recently for offences under Section 5a of the Public Order Act for distributing ''divers items of written matter which were threatening, abusive or insulting in cases where, having regard to all the circumstances, hatred was likely to be stirred up against racial groups, namely coloured people, Asians and Jews, in Great Britain.''

Notwithstanding the language used in the charges, as above, it was clear from the judge's summing up at the end of the trial that of the ethnic groups referred to it was the Jews who were being offended against in this case. Of all the evidence supplied, the greatest weight was placed on the contents of issue no. 6 of the BNP youth paper Young Nationalist, which contained articles describing the 'holocaust' story concerning the alleged extermination of 6 million Jews in World War II as a fabrication, and also a description of the book The diary of Anne Frank as a forgery.

In fact a verdict confirming the latter as a forgery was passed by the Supreme Court of the United States many years ago, one of the most damning pieces of evidence being that the originals of the 'diary' were written with a ball-point pen, which was not even invented at the time of alleged writing!

ONE OF THE 'GUILTY' ONES
David Bearsford Walker

This, however, did not satisfy the court at Plymouth, which found the four men, David Bearsford Walker, Stephen Knight, Kevin Rowe and Richard Trehane, guilty on these counts.

The court did acquit the four and two others, Len Bearsford Walker and David Cullingford, on other charges, so that the trial was a partial victory for the BNP. The severity of the fines, however, was truly vicious in view of the clean record of the four men convicted, and illustrates the power and sheer venom of the forces currently threatening free speech in this country.

The claim that Anne Frank's Diary was a forgery and that the holocaust never occurred may be right or wrong. Some people may agree with those claims and others may not, but this is not the point at issue; the point is that those should be legitimate views for people to express in a democracy. Apparently the court thought otherwise.

Indeed it is difficult to see how the views expressed which led to these prosecutions can remotely be regarded as ''threatening, abusive or insulting.'' Threatening, abusive or insulting to whom? No race was even referred to in any derogatory way in the cited passages. If it was threatening, abusive or insulting to the Jews to claim that the holocaust never happened or that Anne Frank's Diary was a forgery, could it not be claimed that it was threatening, abusive or insulting to Germans or people of German descent living in this country to claim the opposite? The whole idea is ludicrous.

The four men found guilty have been given time to pay their fines and over £300 has already been raised from supporters in the South West towards this payment. We hope that readers all over Britain and around the world will make their contributions too. All money should be sent to BNP (South West Region, PO Box 75, Plymouth PL1 1SQ.

SUPPORT THESE FUNDS!

THERE ARE THREE important funds currently being operated by the British National Party, all of which vitally need support in the immediate future. These are:-

GENERAL ELECTION FUND

The BNP aims to contest a minimum of 20 seats in the next General Election with a full back-up campaign that will cost at least £1,000 per seat — plus, if possible, 30 more seats so as to qualify for broadcasting time. In every area local funds are being launched for this purpose but we need in addition a national fund to supplement and, if necessary, underwrite these local funds. Please make cheques out to British National Party General Election Fund.

HEADQUARTERS FUND

The BNP hopes this year to open a headquarters office in the London area staffed by a full-time office manager. We need money to finance this vital project. Some has already been raised but much more is required. Please make cheques out to British National Party Headquarters Fund.

LEGAL DEFENCE FUND

5 BNP members, including its leader, are facing charges for inciting 'racial hatred' and are due to appear at crown courts in the coming months. We need money to help with their legal expenses. Please make cheques out to British National Party Legal Defence Fund.

All monies should be sent to: PO Box 446, London SE23 2LS.

SUMMER CAMP

AS A RESULT of the great enjoyment experienced by all who attended last year's Summer Camp in Cornwall, the British National Party is this year going to make much greater efforts to promote the event, which will take place at the same venue.

The camp will begin on the evening of Friday, August 22nd and extend over the August Bank Holiday to end on the morning of Monday, August 25th. Those who cannot attend for the whole of this time will nevertheless be welcome for whatever part they can.

A full and interesting programme of events is planned. These will include various sports, such as running and arm-wrestling. There will also be contests in axe-throwing and crossbow target-shooting. Facilities will be available for swimming. On Sunday there will be a party rally on the camp site and on Sunday evening a big sing-song around the camp fire.

Guests at the camp will be welcome to bring children. Toilet and shopping facilities for those who need them will be available very close by.

No accomodation charge is being made and the only payment guests will be required to make will be for their food.

South West Region of the BNP, which is organising the event, ask that all those coming start booking as soon as possible, for the greater advance notice the organisers have of the number in attendance the more efficiently planned the event can be.

Please write for further details to South West Region BNP, PO Box 75, Plymouth PL1 1SQ. When writing please help the organisers by including information on whether you have your own tent facilities or will need these to be provided.

We hope that this year all Nationalists will help to make this camp a huge success. The organisers will be working hard to this end. Support them!
